HE GAVE UP HIS GUN.

Captured Hobbers Persuade an Officer to Let Thom Go.

Hunson, Mich., May 13. Sheriff Bailey of Beyan, Ohio, tracked a gang who robbed a clathing store at West Unity to this vicinity, and with Deputy Sheriff Pease of this city he unexpectedly came upon eight of the robbers near Osseo. Hillsdaie county. They marched them down the road toward the village, when one of the thieves made a pretense to stay behind, and Sheriff Bailey remained with him. The seven men remaining with Officer Pease thrust their revolvers into his face and demanded his gun. He gave it up, although he is one of the bravest officers. Wouldn't Accept the Office.

A dispatch from Washington to the Detroit Free Press of yesterday in-ferred that ex-Mayor Uhl could be in-duced to reconsider his declination to allow himself to be a candidate for the position of assistant secretary of war. Being asked about it last evening Mr. Uhl said that he was surprised to see such an item published. There had been no communication with him by anybody on the subject, and he was en tirely ignorant of the cause of such a rumor. Asked if he had any idea of changing his mind about accepting, he replied he had not.

Died in Jail.

Fred Nettles has gone over the road; not the road he has so often traveled but the road all mankind must travel sooner or later. Fred has spent most of his life in prison or jail. A few days ago he was picked up for safe keeping, as he appeared to be somewhat insane. It was decided to take him to the county home, but yesterday when the superintendent of the poor called at the jail to take him away he had died. He has been suffering from tremens, and that is the probable cause of his death.

Are the People Who Openly Proces Dea

They Am Your Friends and Heighbon and They Speak Neither More Ner Loss Then the Truth-It is to Your Vital Interests That You Reed Them.

It is a good thing for people who do bust

ness with each other to have a little talk oc casionally. We want to have a little talk with the public today. Every week is published in these columns a number of interesting statements from people who have been patients of Drs. Copeland and Graham. The portraits of these patients accompany the statementa. The presentation of portraits with testimonials is a feature of their method, and, while it has been copied extensively by the manufacturers of patent medicines and quack nostrums, it can have force only when the persons who are thus presented are known to the readers. The people who give such testimony for Drs. Copeland and Graham are never strangers; they are citizens and residents of our city. They are your friends and neighbors, and their testimony is voluntary and their places of residence and business openly and hon estly given so that they may easily be found. This is the strongest testimony that can be given as to the truthfulness of a

It has no doubt often been said that while Drs. Copeland and Graham publish each week cures accomplished, they say nothing of the cases they fall to cure. That they have a case of that kind occasionally goes without saying. What physicians have not? But these cases are more than rare with Drs. Copeland and Graham. Long experience has given them wonderful knowledge and insight in discuses, and they are invariably able, after examination, to know whether able, after examination, to know whether they can benefit or cure the case. If they can do neither they honestly say so to the patient. They do not claim to cure every case submitted to them; they do not claim to be infallible; but they do claim that the percentage of cures under their method of treatment is greater than under any other known method.

There can be no doubt of the success that Drs. Copeland and Graham achieve with each case they accept under their care. This success does not rest upon the use of any specific or patented article or appliance, but on the regular treatment of these physicians, whose prescriptions to sait each individual case are prepared under their supervision, for that is the only way that disease can be successfully handled. This is another feature of their system, and it is the secret of the popular success of Drs. Copeland and Graham. They have studied disease until they have obtained a scientific mastery of it.
